DCCCO Resilient @55: leading and transforming lives

By Dir. Edilberito "Jun" B. Euraoba II

The Coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) was initially reported to the World Health Organization (WHO) on December 31, 2019 and when reports of it started to spread, nobody treated it seriously. Some were even laughing when a few people were wearing face masks and dismissed it as mere paranoia.

Things, however, started to change during the first quarter of 2020 when the Government employed the so-called "Draconian Policy" by imposing lockdowns and Enhanced Community Quarantine (ECQ), by strongly enforcing Stay-at-Home Policy where the citizens were not allowed to go out from their residences except to purchase the essentials, such as food and medicines.

Suddenly, we realized that we were facing an unknown enemy and we dreadfully witnessed some of our friends and loved ones became the casualties of the unknown virus and we realized how vulnerable we were of losing our lives against COVID-19, the unknown foe.

Rich or poor, powerful or powerless, suddenly became helpless against the Wuhan virus, and as a result, business empires started to close and employees were retrenched. Economies collapsed not only in our country but in the entire world.

And who can ever forget the contact tracing which led to some of our DCCCO branches closed and staff being isolated to contain the virus; several houses were surrounded with the red caution tape, and residents were not allowed to go out and were instructed to just wait for the "ayuda" coming from the government which most often arrived too late.

Despite the scary situation, yet DCCCO never stopped its operation. We bravely stood against the virus and had shown to our members and even to the community that we live by our tagline "We Care".

We activated our Business Continuity Plan and adopted skeletal force and enhanced health protocols to continue serving our members. We were among those institutions that had grown resilient against COVID-19 and we did not only adapt to the challenges but we led and conquered new heights.

This was evident with the fact that while other businesses trimmed down their workforce or worse, even stopped their operations, DCCCO continued to thrive by opening new satellite offices, such as the new satellite office building in Tanjay City, new satellite office in Hinobaan, Negros Occidental; we even hired additional personnel.

In Isaiah 43:19, it says, "See, I am doing a new thing! Now it springs up; do you not perceive it? I am making a way in the wilderness and streams in the dry wasteland."

Precisely, this is what the Lord did when He turned COVID-19, a dreaded virus, into a blessing and a hidden opportunity to our beloved cooperative for it fast-tracked the implementation of the use of digital application in our meetings and assemblies, and it increased our resiliency against any technology or financial risk.

We continued to lead by adopting virtual meetings and even allowed us to attend international conventions on virtual platforms giving an advantage as compared to the face-to-face method where resources were maximized by doing away with the expenses on international fares. A lot of technological innovations were adopted and some still being developed to serve our members better.

We also led in conducting the first-ever blended virtual Chapter Assemblies and Annual Representative Assembly in 2022. While other co-ops shied away from the challenge, DCCCO took the bull by the horns and invested with the blended virtual approach to pursue its vision of leading in technology advancement.

This goes to show that DCCCO is a trailblazer in the area of information technology in the cooperative sector leaving others to follow our best practices in transforming lives. We always set our goals not only in increasing our assets but by making sure that we use every single asset that we have to transform the lives of our members for the better, and to live by the mission raised by our founders some 55 years ago to empower our members to escape from the clutches of unscrupulous "loan sharks" who lent money to the needy at a very high interest rate.

As aptly pointed out by one observer, "So what if your asset has grown to more than eight (8) billion pesos?" The most important question is, "Were you able to use your billions to lead and transform the lives of your members?" If the answer to this question is YES, then we can wholeheartedly say that we truly live with our theme "DCCCO Resilient @55: leading and transforming lives".

Members attend Anti-Cybercrime Symposium

By Annamar T. Eparwa, SPM Specialist

The prevalence of mobile devices with internet connectivity raises the dangers of cybercrime for both people and businesses. Hence, raising awareness and understanding about unlawful internet content and cybercrime among kids and teenagers, as well as among parents and educators, is the main strategy for its prevention.

In celebration of its 55th Founding Anniversary, DCCCO organized an anti-cybercrime symposium on February 16, 2023 at the 4th floor of the DCCCO Building in Dumaguete City. It was live-streamed via Zoom application to other Branch Offices in Negros, Siquijor and Cebu islands.

The symposium was graced with the presence of P/Capt. Remy Q. Calubing, Head of Anti Cybercrime, Negros Oriental Police Provincial Office (NOPPO), as the resource speaker. CEO Dr. Mildredo T. Umbac also graced the event. Around 300 combined audience members attended the event, with a high volume of participants from the youth sector - the highly-vulnerable sector.

P/Capt. Calubing highlighted the following: 1) Cybercrime as a massive global problem and the Philippine cyberspace, 2) Cybercrime Trends,

3) Top cybercrime case, and 4) Dangers of the internet and safety tips.

He defined Cybercrime as any criminal activity that uses a computer or a computer network either as an instrumentality, target or a means for perpetuating further crimes. He added that the common cybercrime cases are as follows: 1) Online Scam (Swindling or Estafa), 2) Cyber Libel, Photo and Video Voyeurism, 3) Identity Theft. 4) Online Threat, and 5) Hacking.

"Without proper care and knowledge, the use of different social media platforms can endanger a person through the information he/she posts, such as 1) Real Time Locations (ATM), 2) House Layouts/Private Locations Exposé, 3) Expensive things that you have, and 4) Personal Identification Documents", P/Capt. Calubing stressed.

To prevent this from happening, individuals and organizations must be vigilant with their personal information and careful when accessing the internet. As a takeaway from the lecture, consider the following: 1) Think ahead before posting anything, 2) Keep your online accounts and devices secured and your private information away from public eyes, 3) If there is money, favor, consideration, or sensitive information involved in any online communication, do not fail to validate the real identity of the person on the screen, and 4) Report the incident to the authorities.

Awareness raising can only be achieved with the combined effort of the community. Knowledge is power; let everyone be responsible for their internet traces, as this will put their life in danger if not handled carefully. Some of the Cybercrime and Related Laws enacted are Cybercrime Prevention Act of 2012, Expanded Anti-Trafficking in Persons Act of 2012, Data Privacy Act of 2012, Child Pornography Act of 2009 as amended by RA 11930, Anti-Photo and Video Voyeurism Act of 2009, and Electronic Commerce Act of 2000.

This symposium was not the first or last of it. DCCCO will continue to support Anti-Cybercrime Awareness Campaign through various information drives in partnership with the different key stakeholders, e.g., PNP and other public and private institutions.

For cybercrime-related concerns, one may like, share and message the PNP Anti-Cybercrime Group FB Account:

To make the scenario more realistic, Dumaguete One Rescue Team responded by transporting the patients to the nearest medical facility.

The yearly conduct of DCCCO Fire Drill in the month of March is in observance of the Fire Prevention Month. More than the compliance, the main goals are to establish a proper evacuation and appropriate execution of the Search and Rescue, and First Aid treatment to victims in case of disaster.

DCCCO invites co-ops for exhibition games

By Vhrence Kirby B. Nuñez, Marketing Specialist

In celebration of its 55th Founding Anniversary, DCCCO invited Negros Oriental II Electric Cooperative (NORECO II) and Perpetual Help Community Cooperative (PHCCI) for the exhibition volleyball and basketball games. These were the women's and men's volleyball (both between DCCCO and NORECO II), and men's basketball (DCCCO vs. PHCCI). The games were played at the Lamberto L. Macias Sports and Cultural Centre, Capitol Area, Dumaguete City on February 15, 2023.

The first game, the women's volleyball between DCCCO and NORECO II, had exciting rallies. At the end of the game, DCCCO took the win - 3 sets to 0.

The second game, the men's volleyball between DCCCO and NORECO II, was thrilling and exciting as it reached the fifth set. With nerve wracking overtimes, NORECO II eventually won the game.

The third and last game, the men's basketball between DCCCO and PHCCI, started at almost 10 o'clock but this did not affect the energy and performance of the players, who, in the past, would always face each other in local basketball tournaments. PHCCI led in the points during the first quarter and second quarter. Then points and fouls were fairly exchanged. At the third quarter and fourth quarter, DCCCO had the chance to chase and tie in the score but could not beat the game time. PHCCI went home with the win in the basketball game.

Certificate of Appreciation was given to the participating Co-ops while DCCCO souvenir items were given to all the players and coaching staff.

By Gerald C. Grancapal, MRDO

One of the highlights in the celebration of the 55th Founding Anniversary of DCCCO was the motorcade done in the streets of Dumaguete City on February 18, 2023 with the following route: Quezon Park to Bell Tower to Daang Taytayan then to Robinsons Place. Then it proceeded to the public market and returned to Quezon Park. The motorcade echoed the sound of happiness, success, and gratitude of DCCCO – gratitude to God for all His blessings to DCCCO, its members, officers, employees and other stakeholders for 55 years.

As laughter and cheers echoed along the scenic route, it became apparent that the event succeeded in developing a sense of community and togetherness. Customer Service Excellence Seminar: An Eye-Opener

By Sheena Pearl G. Rodeo, Research and Development Specialist

“Great Customer Service is about creating customers’ stories. Customer service isn’t about telling people how awesome you are. It’s about creating stories that do the talking for you.” (Taken from the presentation of Mr. Jose Rico C. Coligado)

DCCCO, through the Human Resource Department, organized a Customer Service Excellence (the DCCCO Brand of Service) Seminar for its employees on January 16, 2023 (Batch 1) and January 23, 2023 (Batch 2), in collaboration with the Philippine Federation of Credit Cooperatives (PFCCO) - Visayas League. The seminar was held at the 4th floor of the DCCCO Building in Dumaguete City. Mr. Jose Rico C. Coligado, a well-known trainer/speaker with actual and vast exposure in development work, business, and finance, delivering lectures here and abroad, and an accredited trainer of the Cooperative Development Authority for Northeast Luzon and Central Luzon Credit Cooperative Leagues, facilitated the said seminar.

One hundred fifty-two employees composed Batch 1 while 173 employees composed Batch 2. Mr. Coligado presented some ideas and strategies on how DCCCO employees can improve their services to the members by focusing on their skills especially for the frontline employees. He also discussed on the types of approaches to take when interacting with different types and personalities of members, and when handling their concerns and complaints effectively.

Mr. Coligado shared some very useful tips on how employees can deliver quality services like being focused on their tasks and responsibilities, being accountable for what they say or do, maintaining a positive attitude at work, and developing good relationships with the member-clients as well as the other stakeholders within the organization.

The seminar was an eye-opener for me as it gave me an opportunity to learn and understand what it takes to be a good employee, especially in the field of customer service. I learned that being a good employee is not just about doing your job well but also having the right attitude and mindset.

The seminar touched on some basic concepts like Dos and Don’ts which we all know so well but tend to forget at times, dealing with different customers/members, handling of complaints, resolving conflicts between members and employees, the various types of customer service jobs available in the market, and a lot more.

The said seminar was an annual event which aimed to provide DCCCO employees with the updated and new knowledge and skills in delivering excellent customer service. It also aimed to develop their competencies to become efficient and effective employees. The seminar was well-structured and easy to follow.

I am grateful to DCCCO for the opportunity to participate in the said seminar and learn a lot of things which I can observe, adopt, and implement in my daily office work. According to Bill Quiseng, “It’s not the one big WOW to one customer that wins the day. It is the one little WOW delivered consistently to every customer.”

Until next year!
